Writing		The crow has stolen Superworm and he has gone missing. Use the missing poster on page 4 to draw Superworm and describe him so that people know who they are looking for.	When Wizard Lizard lands in the rubbish dump he falls with a 'crash, bang, thump'. Can you think of and write any other words that could have been used when he fell down.	Come up with your own super insect. Draw a picture of them and label your picture. You could try to write about their super powers, perhaps it will be a super spider or a dangerous dung beetle	Write about the super insect that you came up with yesterday. What makes them super and what adventure will they go on? You could draw a story map of what will happen.
Communication and Language		Listen to Mrs Heaton read Superworm on tapestry. Talk about the story with someone in your house. What did you like about it? Which insects could you recognise.	Superworm has lots of different powers. If you became a superhero what would your power be? Talk to a grown up about it and explain why you have chosen that power?	Superworm is useful in many different ways, the other insects use him as a fishing line, skipping rope and fairground ride. Think of something in your house that you know how to do well and explain to someone how they can do it as well. Give them some instructions. It could be riding your bike, playing a game or brushing your teeth.	Look at the picture on page 3 of Wizard Lizard in the rubbish dump. Have a look at all of the other things that people have thrown away, could any of them be recycled instead. Work with an adult at home to sort some recycling into your blue bin and think about what it could be turned into instead.
Additional Activities		Treasure is often metal, use magnets to look around your house for any magnetic treasure. How do you know if something is magnetic?	Have a look at some of the Superworm craft activities on page 2. Don't forget to share some photos or videos with us on tapestry.	Use some pink playdoh to make a Superworm. Use some tools to make eyes and a mouth. Can you make a long thin Superworm or a short fat Superworm?	Part of being a superhero is using all of your senses to help people. They need super hearing, walk around your house and listen for all of the things that you can hear. See if you can guess what is making the noise before you see it.
